Christmas Day and Christmas Sunday Services-Good Cheer in the Homes -Effects of the Storm-Personals.

Christmas decorations of the Sacred Heart church were palms, be-gonias, boughs of pine and cedar, and gomas, boughs of pine and ceaar, and roses, carnations and narcissus. A hundred yards of laurel was used in the decorating. The wreaths and crosses were presented by Mrs. M. W. Goff. Festoons of laurel caught with wreaths extended ground the church, under the saileries and hack to the wreaths extended around the church, under the galleries and back to the altar. About the altar were cut flowers and paims. In the sanctury were cut flowers, paims and potted plants. The crib formed of pine and cedar boughs and laurel represented the scene of the birth of Christ.

The Altar society, Miss Mary Hanrihan, Miss Elizabeth Kingsley, Miss Bessie Callahan and Miss Elizabeth Lynch, under the direction of Rev. C. T. McCann, arranged the effective decorations.

Adelbert Geer, the milkman, whose arm is on the Scotland road, faced a o'clock masses Christmas day the following hymns: Holy God We Praise Thy Name, Adeste Fideles, Dear Little One, Mother Dear O Pray for Me, and The Babe of Bethlehem. The soloists were Miss Catherine Butler, Miss Helen Bulkley and Arthur Mullen.

and the attendance of 200 at Parish hall was not disappointed. The first half ended 4 to 1 in favor of the visitors. For the first ten minutes after play started again, the game went on in darkness, as the lights did not come on, and because of this the half was lengthened to 30 minutes. The passing of O'Malley and Leary, the Bridgeport forwards, was a feature.

Because of a breakdown in their train west of New London and another delay between the city and Taftville, the Blue Ribbons did not arrive until 3.30 and the game began at 4 o'clock, instead of 2.30, as scheduled. Manager Benoit is planning to get the Bridgeport men for another game later in the season. The line-up and summary: the children Rev.
